CAROL CHASE

Inducted 2015

Carol was born in Connecticut in 1941, the third of four children. The family moved to West Hartford, Connecticut when she was five years old. Graduating from Conard High School in 1959, she was accepted into the Hartford Hospital School of Nursing program which she graduated from in 1962.

Carol met her future husband Richard Chase, a native of Sherman, New York, while she was enrolled as a nursing student. They married and moved to Sherman in 1963, and became the proud parents of their son Lane in 1964.

Carol worked as a registered nurse for Marlin Rockwell in Jamestown, New York, and Westfield Memorial Hospital before accepting the position of school nurse at Sherman Central School in 1978. She contributed 30 years of service to the district retiring in 2008.

Carol quotes, "being a member of the Sherman Central School team and working with our students was the most rewarding part of my nursing career. It was an honor to have been part of the educational experience of our students. Watching their growth and maturity was priceless. Many former students still remember me fondly with smiles and hugs and comment... you were my school nurse! That recognition is the best ever!"
